Notes for WILLIAM PICKARD:

William served in both WW1 and WW2 rising to the rank of Lt. Colonel. in the engineers. At Dunkirk he was assigned the task of blowing the bridges as the troops retreated before the German army they finally left from Boulogne in France arriving back after the main body of troops had returned and were taken at first as spies. After the second world war William never returned to his wife. Family history has it that he was not alone and was a ladies man. There is also the story that he was severely affected by the retreat at Dunkirk as he blew up bridges which prevented the refugees escapeing a fact he found hard to bare.

Notes for ROSE MARY IRWIN:

Info from Rose Mary Walker (nee Irwin) Rose left home when she finished school and worked first in London until the war broke out, she then returned to Devon and worked first in Torrington and then in Bideford. She was at this time living in digs and travel was so difficult at this time that she lost touch with her many relatives. After she married she went to live in London Keith being from London. Keith became very depressed after the war and found it hard to settle into civilian life. Times were hard for the family, they lived in furnished rooms, then unfurnished rooms, shared a house with no bathroom and only an outside toilet, a bank flat in Streatham on three floors with 64 steps and stairs. Her children were born here, then moved to a semi in New Malden, Surrey.

Her husband played a lot of sport and Rose had a lonely life as a result however she knew he needed his sport and it gave her the freedom to "do my own thing"

Notes for KIETH GORDAN ELDRIDGE WALKER:

Info from Rose Mary Walker (nee Irwin) Keith served in the army and saw battle at the landing in Sicily, the battle of Monte Casino and the beachhead at Anzio, where he was taken prisoner. He was involved in some fierce fighting and after the war was very depressed.

He was a keen sportsman and played a lot of cricket being very well known in club cricket, playing football in the winter, he took up golf in later life. Rose and Keith played bowls together.

Transcript of Words spoken at Kath's funeral by her son John Firstly, can I thank you on behalf of my sister and my brother and myself for coming. It's comforting to know that others cared for our mother.

i've little to say to convey what mum meant to us, other than that we owe her so much. she has been the most important influence in my life. She showed me by her example the importance of unconditional regard, not just for those who you may benefit from, but for everyone and that acceptance of others came back to her, everyone she came in contact with liked her. She had a facility for placing others at their ease.

I have tried to follow her example, not as successfully as she managed as it came naturally to her, it was her nature. So I do not want us to be sad today, mum would not have wanted that, she was a practical, seemingly uncomplicated woman. She did not give in to pain or troubles. She quietly and with every fibre of her good soul worked to keep her family fed and clothed - often at a cost to herself that we her family and friends were never aware of. She only asked that we love and help others as she had all her life. Plant those seeds and watch them grow

Thankyou for being here
